The community is very much stirred over the case as it is the second poisoning affair during the past eight months.

ELAINE MEN AGAIN WIN REPRIVE.
(By The Associated Negro Press.)
Little Rock, Ark., June 30.—The state won its fight in the supreme court against further delay in the execution of the six Elaine Negroes, who were sentenced to die June 15th. The court granted the writ of prohibition filed by the state against Chancellor Hartman to prevent the chancellor from hearing the habeas corpus writ filed by attorneys for the men a few days ago.

While passing directly on the case of the six Elaine men, Ed and Frank Dickes, Ed Coleman, Paul Hall, Frank Moore and J. E. Knox, the decision also applies to the case of Ollie Norsworthy, the Cross County Negro, who was to have been electrocuted last Friday. His case had been taken into chancery court in Cross county. The Supreme court early last week issued a stay of execution pending disposition of his appeal.

Chief Justice McCulloch wrote the opinion handed down. "The doctrine has been announced repeatedly," the opinion says, "that courts of equity in this state are not clothed with jurisdiction to review proceedings in criminal courts or to interfere with such proceedings, either by injunction or under the writ of habeas corpus."

BIBLE TRANSLATED INTO AFRICAN DIALECT.

Chicago, June 30.—The use of dialects in the jungle of Central Africa to aid the missionaries correctly to reduce the various native dialects to writing has been introduced by the Board of Christian Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, it was said by Dr. P. M. North of New York at the meeting of the bush natives into an organ and Advance here. He said:

"The task of correlating the speech of the bush natives into a normal grammar which can be expressed in pictographic symbols is regarded as an important aspect of Methodist missionary to Angola, has different parts of the Dark Continent. The Rev. Herbert C. Wilby, Methodist missionary to Angola, has completed the translation of the New Testament into the language of the Lubalo cannibals of the interior, and similar work is being done in the Congo and Rhodesia.

"The fundamentals of education thus established have become popular among the native Christians, who are thus enabled to read letters and wages from employers and to gain more prestige in their tribal councils. When these people have learned to read, they are insatiable and become eager book-buyers as the reading classes in this country, according to missionary reports. The four Methodist mission printing plants in Africa are kept busy turning out matter for them. The plant at Kambini, Portuguese East Africa, in three weeks shipped 1,500 volumes ordered by native Christians from Inhambane, new work in the mines at Johannesburg. In Angola, the natives have committed to memory practically everything produced in their language and are desirous of more and varied literature."

The committee announced that the Methodists will send out more printers from this country to enlarge their output of literature in the various dialects of the Bantu language. This language in its different forms is more clearly defined than any other language in the world, according to philologists, but there are 383 dialects, of which 100 have been reduced to writing thus far. There are 60,000,000 natives speaking various forms of the Bantu language.

SENTENCED CHARGED WITH N. C. RIFLE.

Warrenton, N. C., June 30.—Jerome Hunter was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary by Judge E. H. Craner last week and six other Colored men were given minor sentences for participation in a free-for-all battle which occurred at the little town of Nacogdoches, two miles from this place, on the 22nd of last January, in which several white and colored men were wounded. The melee grew out of a dispute between a colored man named Bullock and a white merchant who had sold him a basket of bad apples. After the affray, the colored men who were connected with the affair were rounded up by the authorities and placed in the Henderson jail and the following night two of their number were taken out and lynched. The other colored men were then removed to the jail, and the authorities have done nothing to bring to justice the white members of the mob who lynched the two colored men or any white men interested in the affray at Nacogdoches. This is justice meted out to Negroes, which a further effort to protect themselves from violence at the hands of white ruffians.

Mrs. Gabrielle Pelham and Prof. Benjamin Washington of the Washington public school system demonstrated how there can be independence regardless of position. Supt. Ballot of the schools refused to permit colored people attend the singing of Central High, although colored were on the program. They refused to appear, and took the sing to Dunbar High, where all races went.

"The Face at the Window" is a photograph that deserves as much condemnation as any propaganda play ever produced. It is designed to show the great dangers of bolshevism, and yet the Ku Klux Klan is idealized as the saving institution for America. It is produced by the Fox corporation, New York, and the Washington manager informed the Associated Negro Press representative, that Col. Simmons, of Klux notoriety, had written Mr. Fox a letter commending the picture, and adopting it as their "ideal." "It is one outlaw organization against another," said one. Not knowing its import, it was shown at the Howard theatre, and was hissed.
